A calm place your commission ideas would live between visits.

 This demo saves nothing. There's no profile or storage behind it, so ideas aren't kept — and refreshing the page clears the draft you're working on.

In the real studio, saved ideas would...

How this would work in the real product — none of this is happening now.

1. Stay on your account

Drafts would be kept on a signed-in profile instead of this browser tab.

2. Wait for you to come back

Return later, compare versions and pick up where you left off.

3. Re-check against Maya's catalog

Prices would be recalculated from Maya's current catalog before anything is sent.
