

A · ENTRANCE: START FROM A TEMPLATE

Where would you like to start?

Pick a starting point. You can change every choice before you send it to Maya.

Just us

Warm and personal. Maya talks to you like it's just the two of you.

From $105

Follow my lead

Maya guides you step by step, at her pace.

From $145

In uniform

Maya in a nurse or doctor costume. Adult roles only.

From $150

Up close

Slow, close shots with soft sound. Little talking.

From $125

“From” prices are derived from each template's cheapest valid build. The fifth template, “Maya’s specialties”, appears only when adult content is on for Maya (doc 11 $5.4) and all its items are visible.

Why Maya prices it this way

“Every video is filmed just for you. A few minutes on screen takes me about an hour to set up, film and edit, so I price by the minute.”

In Maya’s own words.

The note is the creator’s text (at most 400 characters). It is omitted when empty. The platform never adds figures to it.

 Maya may sell this video to other fans later. Choose “Just for you” to keep it private.

The resale notice shows on the Scene Card and again on Review, before sending. It is never collapsed.

D · WRITING YOUR OWN SCRIPT

Your own script

$30

Write the lines you’d like Maya to say. She’ll read it before she approves, and may ask to change parts.

Hi Sam. I’ve been thinking about you all week. Sit back, get comfortable, and let me show you what I picked out for tonight...

 Maya’s limits apply to your script too. Because it’s your writing, only you get this video.

Rules for this state

- The text box appears only when “Your own script” is on the Scene Card.
- It is checked like a custom request on every save. Blocks and flags use design 13 states C2, C3, D1 and D2.
- The AI Director never rewrites, shortens or “improves” the fan’s script.
- Removing the script item asks before discarding the text.
- The creator sees the whole script on the request detail, above the Scene Card.
